Clearstream leading triparty service provider in Europe and Asia

In the Global Investor/ISF triparty survey 2014, Clearstream was rated the best triparty service provider in all regions in which we operate – Europe, Asia, the Middle East and Africa. Clearstream's Global Liquidity Hub has repeatedly achieved outstanding results in industry surveys.

Growing importance of triparty services

In addition to enabling a comparison of triparty service providers based on customer feedback, the Global Investor/ISF triparty survey also gave insights into the growing importance of triparty trades in the industry.

43.21 percent of respondents stated that they had conducted more triparty trades in the past twelve months and 58 percent expect volumes to further increase in the coming year.

Clearstream was cited as the main provider of triparty services with 17.28 percent of respondents choosing Clearstream's Global Liquidity Hub for all their triparty activities.

Clearstream acts as a neutral triparty agent for an entire suite of fully automated and integrated collateral management, securities lending and repo services which enable customers to manage their exposures across timezones, currencies and asset classes.

We at Clearstream are proud of our good results at the 2014 edition of the Global Investor/ISF triparty survey. Clearstream was judged to be the leading triparty service provider in Europe, the Middle East, Africa and Asia-Pacific based on both the raw data and the weighted tables – this means that we were top ranked in all regions in which we operate. Clearstream was especially praised for its outstanding triparty securities lending services where, according to Global Investor/ISF magazine, it "stole the show globally".

Top marks for services

Clearstream won ten out of seventeen service categories, making it the most successful survey participant in this area. Top scores in areas such as timeliness of settlement and margin calls, the quality of reporting and the client interface, the level of STP offered as well as collateral re-use and rehypothecation once more confirmed the technical sophistication and reliability of Clearstream's Global Liquidity Hub.

Clearstream was also particularly commended for the quality of client services which was rated the third most important category by respondents. Other top five most important service categories where Clearstream came first included 'timeliness of settlement' and 'implementation of collateral sets/schedules'. In the 'ability to create bespoke schedules' category, which was judged to be most important by respondents, Clearstream narrowly missed the first place by 0.01 points.

A mark of confidence from customers

We would like to take this opportunity to thank all customers who took the time and effort to participate in the survey. These industry surveys are key, neutral performance indicators as they are based solely on customer feedback. We will be pleased to take all comments on board in our ongoing efforts to enhance and expand our Global Liquidity Hub services.
